Evaluation programme 2022–2024

Evaluation is an important instrument for an effective development policy. While different parts of the Norwegian development aid administration are responsible for reporting the results of individual aid interventions, the Department for Evaluation has a particular responsibility for documenting the degree to which Norwegian development assistance is effective, relevant, and achieves the expected results.

The department is governed under a separate mandate and reports directly to the Secretaries General of the Norwegian Ministry of Foreign Affairs and the Norwegian Ministry of Climate and Environment. The work of the department is carried out according to the principles described below.

Evaluations shall:

- be conducted independently of those who are responsible for the administration and implementation of programmes and projects;
- be conducted in accordance with recognised professional evaluation methods and principles;
- seek to elucidate relevant issues;
- put forward operational recommendations that may be utilised in the preparation of budgets and in further development of the activity being evaluated;
- contribute to transparency and provide information to the general public

The programme may be adjusted based on changes in needs and preconditions. The programme and the status of planned and ongoing evaluations can be found on our webpages at www.norad.no/en/front/evaluation/.

About the programme

Independence, credibility and usability are fundamental principles for evaluation work. To ensure independence and credibility, the work will be undertaken in accordance with recognised criteria and standards for high-quality evaluation practice. To ensure that the evaluations will be relevant and useful, the programme has been designed in consultation with actors both inside and outside the aid administration, with an intention to identify knowledge and issues that will be relevant for the Norwegian development cooperation going forward. At the different stages of the evaluation processes, provisions are made for good interaction and dialogue with stakeholders.

Climate, environment and food security

Evaluation of support to civil society by Norway's International Climate and Forest Initiative

Norway's International Climate and Forest Initiative (NICFI) provides support to civil society organisations through several grant agreements administered by Norad, the embassies and the Ministry of Climate and Environment. A wide range of organisations receive support, from local indigenous organisations to international organisations. The evaluation will examine the effects of support to civil society, focusing on the support to indigenous peoples and communities.

(Ongoing)

Evaluation of the sustainability of Norwegian food security aid

The fight against hunger and support for food security is and has been a priority area in Norwegian development cooperation for many years. The evaluation will assess to what extent this support has been and continues to be sustainable, partly by assessing climate adaption of the aid and partly whether the aid contributes to lasting access to sufficient and safe food. The purpose of the evaluation is to generate knowledge that can be used to further develop Norwegian support for food security. (Planned start-up in 2022)

Synthesis study of how Norwegian support to private sector development safeguards environmental considerations

Climate and private sector development are priority areas in Norwegian development policy. The study will investigate whether climate and environmental considerations are safeguarded in Norwegian support to private sector development. (Planned start-up in 2023)

Evaluation of support for increased transparency in land use, supply chains and financing through Norway's International Climate and Forest Initiative

Good and reliable access to relevant data, as well as systems and institutions for consistent monitoring and reporting, are important prerequisites for sustainable land use in tropical rainforest countries and reduced pressure on rainforests from the market. The evaluation will assess efforts made to improve access to data on forests, deforestation, and forest degradation. The evaluation will map the support provided, obtain experience from ongoing and completed projects and assess these efforts against the performance goal of transparency and the main objectives of Norway's International Climate and Forest Initiative. The purpose of the evaluation is to provide knowledge that can contribute to further developing future efforts in this area. (Planned start-up in 2023)

Rights and inclusion

Evaluation of Norway's inclusion of persons with disabilities in development cooperation

The evaluation will document and assess efforts to include persons with disabilities in Norwegian development cooperation in the period 2012–2020. The inclusion of persons with disabilities is a priority area for development cooperation, and Norway recently launched a new development policy strategy for this work. The evaluation will seek to provide a knowledge base for how aid funds can be used to promote such inclusion. The evaluation will provide input to the work to operationalise the new strategy. (Ongoing)

Human rights as cross-cutting issue

To achieve the best possible results from development cooperation, four cross-cutting issues are to be considered in Norwegian development cooperation: human rights, women's rights and gender equality, climate and the environment, and anti-corruption. This evaluation will look at how Norway's approach to human rights as cross-cutting issue has played out in two to three different sectors. The purpose of the evaluation is to provide knowledge to improve how cross-cutting issues are considered in Norwegian development cooperation. (Planned start-up in 2023)

Humanitarian aid, conflict and peace efforts

Evaluation of Norwegian efforts in the Sahel

Norway is implementing its second strategy in the Sahel (2021–2025) and contributes to funds for development, humanitarian aid and stabilisation. The security situation in the Sahel is unstable and engagement must be constantly adapted. The purpose of the evaluation is to provide input on how Norway can adapt its involvement in a fragile and unstable context. (Planned start-up in 2022)

This evaluation is part of a series of evaluations of Norwegian efforts in fragile states. So far, there have been carried out evaluations of Norway's involvement in South Sudan in the period 2011–2018 and Somalia in the period 2012–2018. Both nu individually and collectively, these evaluations can provide useful insight into Norway's involvement in fragile states.

Evaluation of the interaction between humanitarian aid, development cooperation and peace efforts

The evaluation will look into the relationship between Norwegian humanitarian aid, long-term development cooperation and peace-building. It will place emphasis on mapping and analysing this interplay at country level and drawing lessons to develop a holistic Norwegian effort. (Planned start-up in 2022)

Synthesis study of peace efforts

Promoting peace and preventing conflict play a central role in Norwegian development policy. This study will synthesise and elaborate on findings from previous evaluations of peace efforts that are relevant to Norway's current and future contributions to preventing, reducing, and resolving conflicts. (Planned start-up in 2024)

Management and organisation of Norwegian development cooperation

Evaluation of Norfund with emphasis on investments in Africa

Norfund is the Norwegian government's investment fund for developing countries and provides equity and other venture capital as well as loans and guarantees for the development of sustainable business activities in developing countries. Norfund has, among others, been a key partner for Norwegian support for renewable energy. The purpose of the evaluation is to assess to what extent Norfund's investments have achieved their objectives.

(Planned start-up in 2022)

Real-time evaluation of Norad's work on strategic and knowledge-based management

In Norad's strategy "Norad of the future", one of the priorities is to strengthen and systematise the development, sharing and use of knowledge. The evaluation will follow the implementation of this part of the strategy, focusing on strengthening and systematising the sharing and use of knowledge. The purpose of the evaluation is to provide knowledge that can be used to strengthen the implementation of Norad's strategy in this area.

(Planned start-up in 2022)

Study: Assessment of quality of decentralised evaluations in Norwegian aid management

The Department for Evaluation will follow up previous studies of decentralised evaluations published in 2017, 2020 and 2021, which found that the quality of these evaluations was weak. Decentralised evaluations are evaluations that are commissioned and carried out by those who manage grants in the aid administration. The purpose of the study is to strengthen the quality and use of decentralised evaluations in grant management.

(Planned start-up in 2024)

Financial flows, coordination, and efficiency at the United Nations (UN): Evaluation of the "Funding Compact" at country level

Member states finance the UN system through core support and earmarked funds, with most of the funding channelled through earmarked funds. Skewed distribution in favour of earmarked funds is considered to restrict the UN's opportunity for strategic and long-term planning of programme activities, its ensuring of competence and capacity and implementation of reforms; factors that are particularly important for following up the 2030 agenda.

Multilateral support

Real-time evaluation of a United Nations (UN) fund

Norway has promoted a UN fund (UN COVID-19 Response and Recovery Multi-Partner Trust Fund) which aims to ensure a coordinated UN effort to help countries deal with the ripple effects of the corona virus crisis. This evaluation, with its system-wide perspective, will provide an assessment of the effectiveness of the Fund and the UN response to COVID-19, supported by an analysis of how UN reform may have influenced its response. The follow-up evaluation is carried out in cooperation with the Executive Office of the Secretary-General, United Nations and member states of the South to promote participation and ownership from these regions.

(Ongoing)

To ensure more predictable and flexible funding of the UN system and strengthen coordination between UN organisations, member states and the UN Sustainable Development Group agreed in 2019 on a funding agreement called the "Funding Compact". The evaluation will look at the experiences and results of the implementation of this financing agreement at country level. The evaluation is planned to be carried out in cooperation with the UN and its member states.

(Planned start-up in 2023)

Other evaluations

Evaluation of selected knowledge programmes

Knowledge programmes in Norwegian aid management are developed through long-term cooperation between Norwegian public institutions and similar institutions in Norwegian partner countries. The purpose of the knowledge programmes is to strengthen the competence and capacity of public institutions in partner countries in areas where Norwegian expertise and experience are in demand.

The knowledge programmes are currently managed by the Knowledge Bank in Norad. The Department for Evaluation will carry out evaluations of selected knowledge programmes that can provide insight into the ongoing work, to further develop these. The evaluations will both identify the results of the effort and assess the achievement of goals. Initially, the Department for Evaluation will look at the programme “Fish for Development”.

Evaluation of fisheries support for Africa

Norway has for decades supported the fisheries sector in various countries, particularly in Africa. Since 2016, the funding has been managed under the programme “Fish for Development”, as a part of the Knowledge Bank unit in Norad. The evaluation will assess the results of long-term professional cooperation in the fisheries sector. The evaluation is primarily limited to the Nansen Programme, jointly implemented by the Norwegian Marine Research Institute and the UN Food and Agriculture Organisation (FAO). The evaluation will assess goal achievement in the programme, including maritime resource management and regional cooperation goals, and provide inputs to strengthen Norwegian support in this area. (Ongoing)

Evaluation of support for corona virus vaccines

Norway supports global cooperation to make available COVID-19 vaccines, test equipment and medicines to developing countries, as well as contributing with significant financial support for the purchase of such vaccines. The evaluation will assess results after the initiative has been operational for three years. (Planned start-up in 2023)
